Obsessed with impact, Erica Mohr is a high achiever and fiercely loyal client champion. Using curiosity, kindness, and collaboration, Erica supports her clients to shift outdated leadership paradigms to new beliefs that maximize business outcomes and personal well-being. Erica has a vision of empowering and sustainable leadership that, at the same time, promotes personal well-being. Through her coaching and facilitation with pLink Leadership®, Erica's clients discover how to act in alignment with their values, take risks, and show up with bravery. Erica emphasizes the importance of clarity and purpose, encouraging leaders to narrow down what's most important to them to develop a clear course of action. Her style focuses on mobilizing the highest-impact, lowest-hassle path toward change.

As a Coast Guard commander for more than 20 years, Erica designed, deployed, and measured the quality of the service's professional development programs and co-founded the nonprofit Coast Guard's Women's Leadership Initiative. She later served as the Executive Director of the Sasamani Foundation, an organization dedicated to expanding opportunities for women and girls in Tanzania, and she now serves as their Board Chair.

Erica is currently based in Washington D.C. When she's not working, she is happiest during living room dance parties, experiencing awe through nature, paddling with her husband Pete, celebrating others' triumphs, adding to her human pyramid photo collection, and in shavasana.
